Sunderland RV Safe Park Reaches Full Capacity

Sunderland RV Safe Park

The Salvation Army shared the news on Friday, August 30 that for the first time, the Sunderland RV Safe Park is fully occupied -- all 55 parking spots are taken and there are 74 participants.

Recent Quote

"...we're incredibly thankful to have a full and vibrantly active site! Although we have some success stories coming up that will mean more vacancies in the near future, it is fun to see the park at capacity, and I can already tell you that the critical mass helps with the sense of life and community.

"Our latest intakes have been full of folks who are eager to get working toward their goals!... We already have a list developing of folks looking for a participation spot. As I'm sure you know, we're eager for more stories of folks meeting goals and moving to the next step, as well as anticipating the names/faces of those who are next!... There are a lot of 'wide eyes' and thankful words being shared as folks settle in for their first few nights of restful sleep."

During dangerous weather emergencies, Multnomah County opens life-saving Disaster Resource Centers (DRCs) across our community that offer people shelter, safety, resources and connection — especially those who are at greatest risk of harm.

Getting trained and gaining basic shelter skills ahead of time can help you be prepared and ready to support these important efforts. Attending a Disaster Resource Center info session and/or a General Staff training is a great place to start.

Provider Highlight: Rafting Excursion in the Wilderness

In an ongoing partnership, New Avenues and LEAP (Life Expanding Adventure Programs) facilitate an annual experience for homeless youth by engaging in a multi-day rafting and wilderness excursion.

This year, a team of six staff successfully supported seven youth in completing a 5-day, 60-mile kayaking and camping program on the Lower Salmon (Tamaánma) River in Idaho, land which is stewarded by the Nimiipuu (Nez Perce) indigenous peoples.

These youth went over class 4 rapids, camped under the stars, paddled through a thunderstorm, and honed resiliency within discomfort, interpersonal communication, and leadership skills. During the evenings, youth engaged in intentional activities and facilitated conversations that gave them space to reflect on how they navigated the challenges and successes of the day, and how they can apply these skills to navigating trauma and adversity during their lives back home.

Two youth, immediately after returning from the trip, have been approved for housing vouchers and are on track to be housed shortly. Two more youth are working with LEAP to participate in their paid internship program next season, where they will be trained to be licensed wilderness guides. All youth reported the experience as being “life changing.”
