- There wasn't much engagement beyond the presenters sharing information.
- I learned more about Dignity Village and how it is run and the troubles it has faced

(optional) Please share any recommendations for how to improve our ability to discuss and collaborate on this topic

- I think it would be cool to have more discussion on how we can support these types of housing and community projects or more information about organizations that are doing this work.

- I wish I had attended this session.
- I can't quite put my finger on what to tell you to improve this. Perhaps my expectations were not aligned. I thought it would be a how to do the village concept. But it was just a history lesson. And I really do not like being read to when the entire discussion is on the slide. The speaker that is the macroSW didn't seem to want to be transparent with what has kept the village concept from being replicated. I heard that hers was marvelous, and that others really didn't meet the mark because they used government-linked non-profits. I was looking for some legs on this kind of a program. I left with the impression that Dignity Village is a unicorn and can not be replicated.
